UD:

Better Living Design for all!

Troy Balthazor, M.Ed., serves as an Americans with Disabilities Act Specialist for the Great Plains ADA Center. The ADA Center hosts the National ADA Symposium annually, providing the most comprehensive training available in the United States on the rights and responsibilities aimed at providing equal opportunity to all citizens, regardless of ability level. Troy also teaches at the University of Missouri in the Parks and Recreation Department. Troy currently heads the PedNet Coalition Board of Directors, supporting transportation mode shift through accessible and universal design of trail systems that improve safety and usability for those that choose to bike, walk and wheel throughout Columbia, Missouri.
